BADGER CREW NOW ON HUDSON RIVER

Changes Made in the Boat—Men Are Said To Be Favorites in the Race.

Poughkeepsie, N. Y., June 17.—(Special.)—Wisconsin's crews were on the water yesterday and the men stood it well in spite of the long journey.

In the morning they went out for several short spins in the face of a stiff southerly breeze that slapped water into the shells, so that they had to be taken ashore twice and emptied.

Late in the afternoon they went out again in quiet water, and the varsity rowed three miles up stream dropping the freshmen a mile back. On the return they picked them up and the last half mile was rowed at a racing stroke of thirty-six. The boat rode evenly and well. The remainder of the rowing was at thirty-six stroke, with frequent lapses to correct slight lapses in form.

Freshmen Ragged
The freshmen are inclined to be a little ragged on the forward swing, but hold their pace well. Coach O'Dea would say nothing about the work of the day or the prospects of the race.

The final shake-up among the men was to have taken place, and W. T. Gibson is now at No. 6, in place of Palmer. Both are seasoned, powerful oarsmen, although a little weak on form.

Change in Boat
In the Wisconsin boat Moffat at bow and Stephenson are troubled with badly blistered hands, but expect to have them healed in a few days. Around the Wisconsin quarters little is said as to the prospects of the crew, but outside, Cornell and Wisconsin are mentioned most prominently for first place.

Wished Good Luck
Little actual comparison of the crews has been made, but the sentiment of the other oarsmen was voiced by Captain Allyn of Pennsylvania when he said: "We all wish that Wisconsin may beat everybody—except ourselves, of course."

The Wisconsin crews will probably not go out again until tomorrow afternoon, and little morning work will be taken.

DOBSON'S RECORD IS A BAD ONE

Author of Charges Against Wood Wanted by New York Police for Crimes.

New York, June 17.—Those people in New York who are best acquainted with Charles M. Mr. Dobson is now under $2,000 bond to appear in a suit in which former Judge Bookstaver is a complainant. On January 29 last Dobson was locked up in the Ludlow street jail. He was subsequently released on a security company's bond. In addition to this there is a body execution for him for failure to meet a judgment of $20 with $10 costs, obtained against him by Adelaide Cumming for typewriting work.

CAUCUSES WILL END LOCAL FIGHTS; STRANGE METHODS USED IN DANE CO.

La Follette Machine Men Are Desperate, and Resort to All Sorts of Tricks—List of Republican Delegates for Janesville Printed Below—Other Political News Notes.

Driven to desperation the forces of the Executive machine are this afternoon making a fight for their existence in Dane county. Dispatches from that county show that every method and means known to tricky politicians are being used to insure the election of LaFollette delegates and if they do not succeed it will only be because their tactics are too rough for even the farmer to swallow.

The latest development is the printing of tickets for delegates with the names of one or two Whitehead men on them and the rest LaFollette men. This is with the view of handing these tickets to the voter in the hopes that they will see only the Whitehead men's names and will vote without looking further down the ticket.

Tricky Methods
Another plan resorted to is to distribute tickets with the entire Whitehead list of delegates on them but without the name of the convention to which they are elected and thus when they are voted for, the people will not have representation owing to the technicalities of the caucus law.

The republicans of the county have discovered these methods and have sent notifications to all their adherents, but it is doubtful if all parts of the county can be reached before the damage is done.

Office Holding Students Work
Another pretty move of the executive machine is the placing of all the students who are employed at the capital on salaries paid by the state at work in the field for the machine. Most of these men are men who on account of their athletic ability and the necessity of their presence on the different athletic teams of the university, have been given places in the capital, some at good salaries, as an incentive for attending the University and devoting their time to athletics. Many are the most popular men in the university from an athletic standpoint, and trusting to their popularity they have sent out among the students to call votes on a personal basis.

These men resort to the plea that if the governor is not re-elected that perhaps they may not be able to come back next year and the team will be lessened. One more good plan This will have the desired effect upon many of the students and they will vote for their Alma Mater's glory rather than for the good of the state.

Tricks to Bolster Case
Another trick that the executive machine in Dane has been trying but failed at was to have the Supervisor of Assessments W. H. Pierstorff, a farmer from Middleton, make a statement that the Frost Mortgage bill was defective. Instead of that Mr. Pierstorff, who a life-long democrat comes out with the statement from the farmers' standpoint that the governor did the farmers a great injury when he vetoed the bill and that the poor farmer ought to resent the renomination of such a man. A boom-crang in the LaFollette camp.

Hard To Find Machine Men
The LaFollette people have had hard work to find good reliable men to go onto their tickets as delegates. The best element of the party throughout the county is against the governor and in many cases the men finally chosen have been a second or third choice as the original ones refused to serve. They realize that it is LaFollette or Spooner every time.

Denounced By Democrats
The action of the LaFollette men in securing the democratic vote at today's caucuses has been warmly denounced by leading democrats.

Senator H. I. Weed of Oshkosh, who is in Madison to attend the Pythian grand lodge meeting, said last night that if it were true that the LaFollette machine was exerting every effort to get Democrats out to vote for the governor at the caucuses here tomorrow the men engaged in such work are political desperados, and Democrats who stooped to become a party to such a trick were little better. The Senator thought the Democrats ought to have too much regard for themselves and too much loyalty for their party to allow themselves to be made the catspaw of the governor's machine.

GREEK COMEDY AT BELOIT COLLEGE

Aristophanes' Play, "The Frogs," Was Presented Last Night in English by Sophomores.

Beloit, Wis., June 17.—"The Frogs of Aristophanes," presented here last night by the classical sophomores and freshmen of Beloit college, prove to be the most successful of the series of Greek plays given at the college. It was the first time a Greek comedy in English had been attempted and was received with marked approval by the audience that packed the local playhouse. The plot deals with the journey of Dionysus, the patron saint of the Greek drama, to Hades to find a good poet to save Athens and the contest there between Aeschylus and Euripides for favor. Ernest P. Kepple as Dionysus; Prentiss H. Case as Xanthias, his servant; Theodore R. Faville as Euripides; and Arthur E. Westenberg as Aeschylus carried the leading roles successfully. The strong features were the choruses of frogs and the initiates, while the principal scene, representing the entrance to Hades, was a striking stage picture.

WHITEHEAD SAYS WHAT HE WILL DO

Defines His Policy on Taxation Question in Clear, Concise Words.

REVIEWS QUESTION

The Senator's Present Letter a Resume of All His Others on Taxes.

LAST ARGUMENTS

The Gazette today prints State Senator Whitehead's last letter on Taxation. This letter sum up all that have gone before it on this perplexing problem and stands as a pledge of the senator's for what he will do, when he receives the nomination at the state convention in July and is elected Governor in November.

The letter shows clearly that the writer stands by the tax commission and the gigantic work that they have undertaken in reforming the taxes of the state. He believes in continuing the commission only with enlarged powers and then working along a system of reforms that will gradually evolve the problem of taxes.

Finally Mr. Whitehead comes out clearly and strongly on the principal of railway-taxation and states that he believes that the bill should have been passed and the taxation made. To those who have been calling upon Senator Whitehead to state his position (this letter gives) a complete platform of the tax question that he hopes to be elected upon. The letter follows:

Janesville, Wis., June 16, 1902.

To the Gazette:

The principal object that I have kept before my mind in the preceding letters upon the subject of taxation, has been to lay before the people of this state the facts and the conditions as they have been brought to the attention of members of the Legislature through reports and public utterances made in an official way. I have cited the very expressions of Governors, legislators, and Tax Commissioners, and thus sought to supply authentic material which readers might make use of and so be enabled to draw their own conclusions, both as to what has been done or left undone by the Legislature.

From an examination of this material, I have reached some conclusions myself, which I shall now state:

1. It was necessary "in order to secure improvement in the system and an equalization of taxation in this State" that there should be a State Tax Commission.

2. It was necessary that such Commission should "have a general supervision of the system of taxation throughout this State, have power to make a thorough investigation thereof," report the results of such supervision and investigation to the Legislature, and "formulate and recommend legislation for the improvement of the system and for the equalization of the taxation of the State."

3. The Tax Commission was created as an agency of the Legislature to present the facts essential "to sound legislative judgement, and to the enactment of such laws as may be necessary to compel each individual and every corporation transacting business within the state except such fraternal and other associations as are now expressly exempted from taxation by law—to bear a just proportionate share of the burden of taxation."

4. A report such as each of the Tax Commission has submitted, has made plain the responsibility of the Legislature to provide with all possible diligence "for the improvement of the system and for the equalization of the taxation of the State."

5. With reference to legislation recommended, both Tax Commissions have been conservative. Their counsel has been: (a) That experience has demonstrated that laws thought at the time of their enactment to be theoretically perfect, have not proved workable when committed to men for execution and enforcement. (b) That any system of taxation must depend in a great measure upon the method of administering it. (c) That the demand now is that the men of experience and technical knowledge, who have the confidence of the people, be placed in charge of the system of taxation. (d) That the habits and the customs of the people, in the usual affairs of life, have always exercised a powerful influence in shaping legislation for their government, and in no sphere more potentially than in taxation. (e) That such influence should not be permitted to obstruct progress, but it is to be borne in mind that they exist, whenever radical changes in legislation are contemplated. (f) That the rapid industrial progress of the past few years, has brought about new conditions, both as to individuals and communities. (g) That the shifting from one legislative policy to another is to be avoided. (h) That a system of taxation should be worked out that will attract capital to our State, not drive it away. (i) That the inadequacy of the general property tax laws, as administered in primitive days in rural communities, for the support of the State, as its large affairs are now conducted, is generally conceded. (j) That the

SHREWD KANSAS FARMER GETS WHEAT HARVESTED

Offers His Pretty Daughter as Prize to Hardest Worker and Illinois Man Wins Her.

Wichita, Kas., June 17.—Farmer James Woolsey has succeeded in having his 500-acre wheat field cut before the yellow grain grew musty. But it cost him his daughter. He gave her as a prize to the young harvester doing the greatest amount of work in a specified time. Willis Rodway, a young mechanic from Illinois, won, and he and Anna Woolsey were married at Pratt.

The Woolsey farm is one of the largest in Pratt County, and the scarcity of harvest workers in that section weighed heavily on the farmer's mind. His wheat grew dead ripe, and there was no one to help him cut it. Then he devised a plan to offer as a bride to the hardest worker his 19-year-old daughter. She was as dutiful as good-looking. The men came by the score. She was given the privilege of rejecting any of the contestants she personally disliked, and many were thus ruled out.

The contest was spirited. It lasted three days, during which time Rodway, working ten hours a day, cut 100 acres and wore out three good teams.

LAST LETTER ON TAXATION

State expenditure will constantly increase, and the legislature will find it necessary to provide additional revenue. (k) That a complete revision of the whole system of taxation at one time would not be practicable. (l) That the value of all taxable property in the State must be known, before a just equalization of taxes can be realized. (m) That a lawful assessment is indispensable requisite to a just tax.

The escape of intangible property from taxation is everywhere acknowledged, but the inequitable system has not brought the desired relief to States which have tried it. The result of our present efforts in Wisconsin will likely be as the Tax Commissioners have predicted, that "a more distant demand than now exists that much of the intangible property, so-called, which under existing practice is virtually exempt," shall be made expressly exempt from direct taxation.

7. There has not been considered nor is there likely to be, legislation that will suffer "intangible property" to escape its just share of the public burden, simply because efforts to place it directly upon the assessment rolls have been unavailing.

8. "Indirect methods," such as are resorted to in other states and countries, and such are as yet to be devised, "more nearly approximating equality between individual citizens," will come more and more in favor, for the taxation of that kind of personal property which now escapes.

9. Any new system of taxation adopted in this State, especially if it relate to intangible personal property, should not, at the outset, place the heaviest strain possible upon the property taxed, nor attempt to gather in at one time and in one sum all the tax that ought to be paid by the owner of the property.

10. "The consequences which might follow the taxation of moneys, and credits, especially bank deposits and real estate mortgages, at the full rate at which other property is taxed, are matters of grave public concern, to say nothing of their direct effect upon individuals whose affairs, in common with all other property interests in the State, have come to be adjusted on the basis that these are practically exempt" from taxation.

11. The first Tax Commission expressed as one of their conclusions which I deem sound, "that all the corporations which are taxed upon the basis of earnings, or on a mileage basis, pay relatively less taxes than other persons, and less than they would pay upon the basis of value." 12. If there be an ad valorem method adopted for the taxation of the great interstate corporations, the assessment should be made by a central State authority. The reports of both Tax Commissions were agreed upon this point. The operation of the Wisconsin ad valorem laws of 1899, relating to certain interstate companies, is not sufficiently understood as yet to make any forecast as to how far the system will ultimately be extended.

13. In dealing with the taxation of interstate corporations, the cooperation of states entered by such corporations should be sought.

14. The present Tax Commission recommended, as I think wisely, "that the license fee system of collecting taxes from certain corporations be maintained, at least until it be given a test under conditions that will make the returns received from it more nearly equal to what will be collected from the same properties on the ad valorem basis."

15. The conclusions of the Tax Commission respecting the value of taxable property in this State, as yet out in their report, seemed to me, as a Senator, to be a sufficient warrant for the legislation relating to the license fee system proposed by the Commission at the last session of the Legislature, and I gave it my support. I hold with the Commission that the proper test of the system is that the "returns received from it" should be "equal to what would be collected from the same properties on the ad valorem basis." Such legislation as may be needed to produce the conditions under which this test may be given to the system of taxation in use in this State.

16. The state of Wisconsin is in her infancy. She has encouraged and she will continue to encourage, by her system of public influence, the location and the development of industries, the building up of cities, the strengthening and improvement of means of communication between different points, and a more general enjoyment of educational facilities.

17. Dr. Ely, in a recent newspaper article on our Tax Commission, wisely said:

"Our business interests must not be imperilled. All persons must be taxed in proportion to their capacity. There can be no controversy about this, but there is some danger that if we are not careful, we may place burdens upon industrial interests which are beyond their capacity to bear. No one in the Legislature, no one in the tax commission, and, in fact, no intelligent citizen can possibly desire to ruin any business or even to impede our industrial development. The prosperity of the farmers, of the wage-earners, and of all classes depends largely upon our industrial development."

18. From the high authority last cited, I quote and subscribe to this: "It is, then, of the utmost importance that a careful study should be made of the facts of interstate and international competition, as affecting the interests of business in Wisconsin, and that in particular a careful examination should be made of the taxes paid by manufacturers, merchants and other business men in other states and in other nations, so far as they engage in competition with us."

19. Dr. Ely further said, and it should be remembered, that:

"It is, indeed, impossible that we can reach anything like a permanent settlement of the vexed question of taxation, unless our tax laws are framed with reference to interstate and international competition, especially as determined by taxation."

20. The expenditure of public money must be understood by Tax Commission, Legislature, and citizen. 21. Full information respecting the disbursement of the public funds should be accessible to citizens as well as legislators. The first Tax Commission has stated that one-twentieth of our money is collected annually by taxation is thrown away.

22. A separation of State and local revenues would remove competition among the counties for lost assessments. The same sort of competition between towns in the county interferes with just assessments, and should be done away with. The Legislature should provide safeguards as well as separations. The sense of responsibility for the expenditure of public money more remote the disbursing authority is, the less likely is it to be must not be lost by the citizen. This kept in mind by the tax-payer and if there be lavish expenditures.

23. A State system of book-keeping is desirable for both citizens and legislators. The books should be so kept that comparative statements of expenses in the different institutions of a given department of the State government may be made.

24. There should be submitted to the Legislature at the opening of the session a budget describing fully the income needed and the outgo proposed for carrying on our State government.

25. The question of taxation involves considerations to be passed upon from the standpoint of the legislator, of the judge, of the executive, of the economist, of the social philosopher, and of the moralist. Legislation to adjust the burden of taxation is bound to be brought to a final test from each of these viewpoints; and no system of taxation, whatever its other merits, can ever be acceptable to the people of this State, that falls in its moral tendencies.

NEWS ABOUT THE FAR DAKOTAS

THE VALUES ARE INCREASING

E. A. Dorner Takes a Party There To View the Country and Buy Land.

E. A. Dorner, of Orfordville, general agent for Lund's Land Agency, with thirty land seekers from Rock county, left on a special car last evening for Moonsocket, Mitchell, Redfield, Faulkton and Aberdeen, South Dakota, where they will spend the next ten days inspecting the country with a view to buying.

This section of Dakota offers many excellent opportunities for profitable investment in real estate. The constant growth in population made up of thrifty and experienced farmers from the eastern states in connection with the up-building of productive industries, giving increased employment to labor makes constantly increased values in real estate of all kinds a certainty.

E. A. DORNER

It is here that the prices of realty are considered lower than in any other section of the country where there is anything like similar assurances of increasing values.

It is only in the past two years that outside capital has sought investment and in the year just passed Mr. Dorner with his agents have sold many thousands of acres of land to Wisconsin people.

Land has increased in value from $3 to $10 per acre and a number of people from Rock county have sold land purchased in the past six months at a handsome profit.

The Lund agency have a number of sections for sale, land which will give good investment from rentals, besides the increase in value, and any one desiring to locate in a good healthy climate, and a country with unsurpassed natural and acquired advantages, will do well to call on E. A. Dorner, Orfordville, Wis., or C. E. Bowles, of this city, who will gladly give any information desired.

MILTON.

Milton, Wis., June 16—The flag raising at the Saunders district Friday was an excellent success and was attended by a large number of patriotic citizens. Other nearby districts were present as invited guests and had representatives on the programme. The exercises by the children were appropriate and they all did themselves credit. Music was furnished by the Milton High school band and the "kids" made a very favorable impression. The good people of the district served an excellent dinner and left nothing undone that could contribute to the pleasure and comfort of those in attendance. Addresses were made by Rev. T. W. North, Superintendent Thore and Ross and Rev. A. L. McClelland.

The fire bug got in his work again Sunday evening at 8:30, Morton Coon met A. D. Haskins, M. Rice and F. T. Coon on the street near the barber shop and told them that there was a fire in T. A. Saunders' lumber office. The fire bell rang and in a very brief time the department was at work. When the building was entered the rear room was full of flames and a delay of ten minutes would have resulted in the destruction of the building and much adjoining property. The ceiling, sides and floor of the room were badly burned and nothing but the engine could have put out the fire as the bucket brigade could not have worked successfully. While there might have been some little doubt that previous fires were the work of an incendiary in the present one there can be no doubt. No one employed, or about the building smoked the room contained only glazed sash, rolls of building paper and lumber and there had been no fire in the building. There was no chance for spontaneous combustion to get in its work. Mr. Saunders' loss is fully covered by insurance.

Friday afternoon the College team and a nine composed of Lima stars, creasents, etc., played ball on the park. The first half of the game was very good but later it developed into a comedy of errors and a slugging match, the score being 18 to 8 in favor of the College boys. HOWARD W. TILTON

The death of Howard W. Tilton, which occurred at Council Bluffs, Ia., last evening closes another chapter in the drama of life. The suddenness of the event makes it tragic, and his friends find it difficult to believe. He died in the harness, with his face to the front, and his hand on the lever. Working up to the last moment, planning for a short summer vacation, death found him, but did not surprise him, for he had looked him in the face before.

Mr. Tilton was a journalist with a mission. His editorial work was strong and vigorous and his Sunday morning lay sermon had long been a feature of the "Nonpareil."

They contained truths, tersely stated and were so practical and helpful that the demand for them extended over the country, and when they were published in book form they had a wide circulation. He was an honest, as well as an earnest writer and was recognized as such in the field where his energies had long been devoted.

He should have lived out his allotted time, but like many men fired with ambition to reach a certain goal, and then rest, he taxed himself beyond the power of endurance, and when nature rebelled, he lacked the vitality to rally. He had been a semi-invalid for some years, yet doing the work of two men without complaint.

He lived to a purpose and accomplished something everyday for humanity. His death will be sincerely mourned not only by a large circle of personal friends, who loved him because of his worth, but by a larger constituency, who knew him through his work.

THE CAUCUS.

Every Republican in the city should attend the caucuses tonight. They are not Whitehead or LaFollette caucuses, neither are they democratic. They are republican pure and simple and every republican has a right to participate. He not only has this right, but his attendance is a duty that he owes to himself, as well as to the party.

The issue to be decided tonight, so far as Rock county is concerned, is clear, and well defined. The contest is between Senator Whitehead and Senator Spooner, representing old time republicanism, and Governor LaFollette, representing LaFollettism. The former has stood the test of time, and has never been found wanting, the latter has annoyed the state for a year and is unsatisfactory.

The old time republican ticket will be headed republicans. It will contain two lists of delegates. The first to attend the county convention July 8, to elect delegates to the state convention. The second to attend the county convention, July 10, to nominate county officers. The ticket will be perforated in the middle so that the two lists can be readily separated. Every name on both lists will be a conservative republican. The Gazette publishes the ticket in full, in another part of the paper, cut it out and compare it with your ticket and you will make no mistake.

The LaFollette managers have issued a circular, stating that their ticket would be headed "LaFollette." Whatever heading they may have adopted, it will represent LaFollettism, both in state and county politics. Note the ticket as pointed in the Gazette, if you are in favor of Spooner and Whitehead.

TRADE FOR THE WEEK

The trade papers indicate nothing unfavorable, except the continuance of labor controversies at many points. Up to the present time the extremely prosperous condition of the farming sections and the favorable crop outlook have kept business active, but experienced authorities view with uneasiness the continuance of strikes on the present large scale. Generally speaking, business is active in most lines with an especially large movement in seasonable merchandise.

Conditions in the iron and steel trade with respect to supply continue unchanged, and some people are beginning to fear lest the difficulty in obtaining material may lead to the abandonment of plans now under consideration. So far, there has been no sign of this, and many contracts have been made for delivery next year. Nevertheless, the scarcity of material for prompt delivery is not altogether a good feature. There is no change in prices for future delivery, but increasingly high premiums are being paid for immediate shipment. The Iron Age reports that production of pig iron during May was 1,570,243 tons, figure never before reached, but in spite of this, furnace stocks declined slightly. At the present time capacity of working furnaces is undoubtedly the largest on record.

There is no change in the coal trade beyond higher retail prices and the continued substitution of soft coal by manufacturers who formerly used anthracite. In the Pittsburgh coal market the dearth of transportation facilities continues. Coke production continues very large.—Wall Street Journal

DON'T BE A KICKER

There are always a few men, who shrink responsibility and then, if things don't go to suit them, attempt to square the account by kicking. This is true of city affairs, and especially true of politics.

Some of these men regard the caucus as a device of the devil, corrupt and unwholy. Their opinion is founded on dense ignorance. The caucus is the foundation of all government. In this country, and any intelligent citizen, who refrains from lending his influence and support to the caucus of his party, is guilty of gross neglect. There is no excuse for this sort of negligence, and the man who is guilty of it, has no right to kick at any thing that happens.

It is easy to complain about corrupt city government, but it is just as easy to remedy the evil, and it would be remedied speedily if only good men were placed in nomination. This is true concerning the state. The caucus determines who the nominee shall be. If a change in the administration is desired, the time to say so, is at the caucus. That time comes to the republicans of Jansville tonight. If any republican does his duty, there will be no kickers in the party ranks.

The Rock County republicans, who have so strenuously opposed Senator Whitehead's nomination, will have plenty of time to consider their error before November. It is the most senseless opposition that was ever inaugurated. If Governor LaFollette has accomplished anything while in office that is remarkable, except the ability to stir up strife, it has yet to be recorded.

Walworth, Fond du Lac and Marathon are in the Stalwart column. The caucuses tonight will determine the destiny of Rock, Dane and Eau Claire, with good fighting ground in Dane.

The university, the public schools, and every other department, should be required a budget for taxation purposes, the same as is required of the state institutions. When this is done, there will be no more one mill tax.

The nation, the state, and the administration needs John C. Spooner in the Senate. You can help to keep him there by attending the caucuses tonight.

The one mill tax cost Rock County an excess of $33,000.00 this year. This argument ought to satisfy any taxpayer, that a change of administration is needed.

The caucuses tonight will determine whether Rock county wants a governor who thinks more of the farmer's dog than he does of his farm.

If you are a republican, and want John M. Whitehead for governor, attend the republican primaries tonight.

A vote for the Whitehead delegates means a vote for John M. Spooner.

A small delegation will represent you at Madison, July 16, but the caucus tonight is the people's forum.

The caucus is more important than the convention, don't fail to be on hand tonight.

Every republican in the city should attend the caucuses tonight.

Republican caucuses at 7:30 tonight.

PRESS COMMENT.

Whitewater Register: A LaFollette leader from the southwest part of the state said with great emphasis on the train the other morning: "If Whitehead is nominated I can show you 50,000 republicans who will vote against him next November." We did not suppose there would be so many as that, though every one knows that the spirit exists in the LaFollette camp. In 1898 when their leader failed to defeat Scofield for renomination only 34,000 bolted the successful candidate and that ought to be enough for any year.

From a Philadelphia Record reader comes the following copy of a notice found pasted on a signpost near Port Clinton:

NOTIS.

Take this road to Port Clinton. You can't drive over the Pintereck Bridge. She is too poor, and she is ferstap.

SUPROVISOR.

Oshkosh Northwestern: Some of the short sighted coal strikers are rejoicing because the heavy rains in the anthracite district will flood the mines and hasten the shutdown which they desire. They should remember that it will take just that much longer to again set the mines in shape for operations and the time lost will mean an additional loss of wages for themselves.

Racine Journal: One of the common reforms in state matters is that of a tax budget and comprehensive system of book-keeping for the departments. The legislature prescribed for the latter, but the governor thinks it unnecessary to carry out the law.

Hudson Star Times: Carry the news to the St. Croix County LaFollette henchmen. The whole Tenth Congressional district pledged itself to the re-election of John C. Spooner and not a word was said about state issues. Spooner, evidently, has no false friends over in the tenth.

Whitewater Gazette: So far as Walworth county is concerned the contest between the Stalwart and LaFollette forces is over for this year. The Stalwarts won a decisive victory and the delegation from this county is sure to be in favor of Whitehead.

Hartford Press: Gustave Kuestermann, a member of the state board of control, visited the asylum at West Bend last Friday. We wonder how he found the LaFollette sentiment in that part of the vicinity.

LA FOLLETTE VS. SPOONER.

If there are any republicans in Marinette county who seriously believe that they can be for Gov. LaFollette and his politics and at the same time for the re-election of Senator Spooner, they ought to disabuse their minds of any such hallucination. The enmity of LaFollette when the Senator and LaFollette for Spooner dates a long time back. Spooner ever since and has quietly done what he could to discredit him on all occasions since which seemed to him to present a favorable opportunity.—Marinette Eagle.

DIARY OF A CITIZEN.

June 11.—I arose early this morning and spent an hour working in my garden, with which I expect to break the beef trust in time. I put in the garden early in the spring in a moment of enthusiasm and I have derived great enjoyment from it ever since.

I love to waken very early—just after the first blush of dawn—before the sun has chased away the shadows and think about my garden. At that time I get the keenest enjoyment from it. I can almost feel the sharp, keen hoe in my hand and the soft black earth turning up over the slaughtered weeds. I can imagine the sunlight streaming down and filling my soul and ever and anon I picture myself cooping down, plucking an onion or a rutabaga fresh from the vine and regaling myself with the luscious fruit.

It is also a great pleasure after thinking of all these things to turn over and sleep another hour or so before breakfast. I have been pursuing this policy with great perseverance and success all this spring.

Yesterday morning, however, I arose for want of anything better to do and went out to the garden. It is doing splendidly. The radishes are almost high enough to harvest. I should judge, and there is enough wild plantain to supply our family for a great many years. The cut worms never looked better, though I didn't plant enough cabbages for them, I fear, and as for wild turnips, I think I will have what the farmer calls a "humper" crop.

The weeds are doing so well that I could find but very little use for my bright new hoe, which I have been very anxious to try. But I finally cut down a tomato vine which had coiled around a burdock and seemed likely to choke it to death. I had intended to raise tomatoes in the first place, but the soil seems better adapted for burdocks, so burdocks it shall be, and I will allow nothing to interfere with them. I'm going to raise a large and successful crop of something, I don't care what, and I find to my gratification I can lie in bed in the morning and attend to my burdock in an entirely satisfactory manner.—John Henry, Frolles in Nonpareil.

ENURESIS.

Boy, 11 years of age, came to me for treatment with enuresis, of an aggravated form and had always been troubled with it. He had been treated by an eminent physician of Colorado Springs, Colorado, and several prominent M. D. of this state, without any relief; he had also received seven or eight osteopathic treatments previous to my talking the case. On examination, found muscular contraction all along the spine, posterior condition of lower dorsal and lumbar regions, extreme tenderness over sacrum and over second and fifth lumbar, also in right groin, and veins of right spermatic cord enlarged. I removed contractures and tenderness along the spine, corrected posterior condition by the usual methods, principally flexing legs, thorough weight against flexed leg, with hand against spine, springing it back to normal position. Gave passive hip circumduction to increase return current from pelvis and to accelerate flow in iliac vein, reducing pelvic congestion. There was noticeable improvement from the first treatment to the fifth, when a relapse occurred, due to the patient taking cold. After relapse there continued improvement. Eleven treatments, once a week cured this case and he has been well ever since, four months to date. Elmina, N. Y.—Cosmopolitan Osteopath.

REPUBLICAN CAUCUSES, 7:30 TONIGHT.

PENNED AND CLIPPED.

From the Kansas City Journal: Some weeks ago a carload of poultry was shipped from Eldorado to Manila. There were 5,000 chickens to the car and they arrived at San Francisco with no loss to speak of. There they were loaded on a ship, and the Eldorado shipper has a letter, mailed at Honolulu, saying that the birds had reached that port all right. What a beautiful thought it is to fancy the faraway soldier sitting on his bunkers in some impenetrable jungle of the Philippines as he calmly gnaws on the leg of a southern Kansas pullet.

Cassidy—"Kearney seems to be doing well in his present job." Casey—"Ah! But he'll not last long in it." Casey—"Aye; but he'll not last a month. O'Ve said so ever since he got the job two years ago, an' o'Ve'll bet O'm' right."—Philadelphia Press.

AN INTERESTING ATHLETIC MEET

EVENTS CLOSELY CONTESTED

Prizes Won by the Y. M. C. A. Inter-mediate at Athletic Park Yesterday Afternoon.

Excellent contests entered into heartily by seventeen boys and enthusiastic interest on the part of a large crowd of spectators characterized the athletic meet held for the intermediate department of the Y. M. C. A. at Athletic park yesterday afternoon. This contest was the closing feature of the annual field day of the Junior and Intermediate departments, the events for the Juniors having been held in the morning.

The intermediate contests were very exciting and three boys did not have everything their own way as was practically true in the Junior events. Six possible winners made up a first section among the contestants, which gave a splendid athletic exhibition.

The Three Winners

The first honors in the meet were won by Floyd Davis, who had a total credit of 30 points. Bruce Kline and Fred Welch tied for second place with a total of 19 points each and Welch won the toss up, thus taking second place and giving Kline third. Emmett Corvill was a close fourth with eleven points.

All of the contestants were required to enter every event on the program and the winners of each event were liberally applauded by the enthusiastic crowd. The first, second and third ribbon winners in each event were as follows:

The Different Events

A REWARD FOR CONVICTION

Pets in Riverview Park Die In Awful Agony—Join the Association.

Reward: The Janesville Gazette will offer a reward of $25 for the arrest and conviction of any person found guilty of dog or cat poisoning within the limits of the City of Janesville. The above reward will be paid to the informer who will give evidence that will lead to the arrest and conviction of the said poisoner.

Gazette Printing Co.

In offering the above reward the Gazette believes that it is taking the right step in ridding the city of that fiend or fiends who persist in placing poisoned food in the way of pet dogs and cats. No maner man can be found than the one who will deliberately place in the way of a dumb animal poisoned food in the hopes that the natural greed of the animal instinct will be so strong that the poor beast would swallow the food and die in awful agony.

In the last few days many dogs and some cats have been poisoned in the city and the indignation of the owners is only equalled by the rage of all lovers of the animal kingdom at the despicable method of the brute who was the cause of the suffering of the dumb beasts.

The Gazette has also become the depository of any pledges that dog owners may choose to make to increase the above reward for the arrest and conviction of the dog poisoner. Those who wish to add their names to the list of subscribers of the Janesville Protective Animal association can do so by calling at the Gazette business office and leaving their names and the amount they will pay for the arrest and conviction of the criminal.

Poisoner At Work

The dog poisoner seems to be especially active in Riverview park and during the past week people residing in the neighborhood of Vista avenue have lost several valuable dogs and a few cats as a result of the work. Last Saturday Mr. Daley, of the Isabel Mfg Co., who resides at 21 Vista avenue, lost a valuable bird dog the animal suffering from the fearful agonies which precede death by poison.

Dog And Cat Go

A dog and an Angora cat belonging to C. L. Totten, 27 Wheeler St., a pug dog and a cat belonging to Mrs. Frank Bernasek and a dog owned by W. Baum were among other victims of the wretch who seems to have started in on a wholesale slaughter of the dogs in that neighborhood.

Two More Dogs
This morning two dogs were added to the list of deaths, this making at least nine dogs which have been poisoned within the past few days in one neighborhood. In every instance the dogs were highly prized and well-cared for by their owners, and some of the animals were quite valuable from a monetary standpoint.

The home had been handsomely decorated for the occasion with potted plants and cut flowers and presented a charming appearance. The ceremony was performed under a beautiful arch composed of trailing vines and roses. Only the immediate relatives and a few intimate friends of the contracting parties were present at the ceremony.

A sumptuous three-course luncheon was served under the supervision of Mrs. Louise Bowerman, and was enjoyed by all. The young couple were the recipients of many handsome presents, sent them by admiring friends. They took the seven o'clock train for Chicago, where they will spend a few days visiting friends and after July 15 will be at home in this city to their friends at 229 Washington street.

The bride is a young woman of charming personality, and has many friends in this city. She was born in Albany, Wis., and grew to womanhood in that town. There is a scarcity of teams, plows and scrapers on account of the large amount of street work and outside grading going on and Mr. Lawson, the superintendent, is unable to get more help. A large quantity of material for the building is on the way and as soon as the ground is ready for the foundation the work can be pushed along much faster. Mr. Lawson is confident that they will have the station ready for occupancy before the snow flies.

Mr. Campbell, the district carpenter of the road is getting things ready to move the old freight station back out of the way and give the contractor more room for the erection of the new station.

BRUNSON SUES ELECTRIC LINE

CLAIMS DAMAGES OF $1,000

Says the Beloit-Delavan Road Injures His Property by Running By It.

Adah R. Brunson, who is the owner of a lot on Wall street, asks $1,000 damages of the Beloit, Delavan Lake and Janesville Electric line on account of the road being built in front of his home.

The papers in the action were yesterday served on T. S. Nolan, vice-president of the company and were served on the Hayes Bros. today.

Property Damaged
The complaint alleges that the property of the plaintiff has been damaged to the extent of $1,000 by reason of the laying of the rails and running of cars along that street.

Smith & Pierce represent Mr. Brunson and will bring the matter to a trial as soon as possible.

Was Expected
The promoters of the road have been expecting something of this kind for some time. Formal protests were served on the contractors some time ago. The company feels that they are within the bounds of the franchise granted them by the city and are not liable in any way for damages when they put the street in as good repair as it was before they began work.

Will Complete Road...
They will not discontinue work on this account but will keep on until the road is completed.

POLICE BATTLE WITH AN OUTLAW

Lon Henderson Captured by
Marion Officers After a Desperate Fight.

HAD FOUR LOADED REVOLVERS

Enters the House of a Friend, Who Advises Him to Surrender—Gives Up Because His Back Is Filled With Buckshot.

Marion, Ind., June 17.—Sorely wounded by buckshot, with his clothes almost riddled by shot, Lon Henderson, the outlaw who has defied justice for three months, during which time he killed two police officers who tried to arrest him, was forced to surrender. He did not do so, however, until after nearly two hours' fighting, when, single-handed, he faced four policemen, carrying shotguns and fought a running fight in a suburb of the city, not giving up until too weak from loss of blood to raise his revolver. Even when too weak to fire he kept one pistol in order that he might get revenge should an opportunity offer.

Details of the Battle.
The battle between the outlaw and the authorities was the most exciting ever known to the local police. Henderson, who had come into the city to visit his mother, although he knew that the town was being closely watched, was discovered by detectives and the house surrounded at a distance while a policeman was sent for weapons. The officer returned with four shotguns loaded with buckshot and a liberal supply of ammunition.

The four men approached the house through a grove and were within about 200 yards of the house when it was found necessary to cross an open field. The four patrolmen deployed like pickets and started across the open field. When they were within about 100 yards of the house Henderson made a dash for liberty.

Filled with Buckshot.
He ran to the road and mounted a bicycle, ignored a command to halt and was rapidly increasing the distance between himself and his pursuers when all the shotguns rang in a volley and Henderson fell from his wheel with a number of buckshot in his back.

A number of shots were exchanged and Henderson started to run, pursued by the officers. The officers kept up a continual fire, loading and firing in relays of two, and Henderson returned the fire at every opportunity. This warfare was kept up until Henderson entered the house of a friend and again opened fire on the police, who kept out of range of his revolvers.

His friend advised him to surrender and as he was suffering with the wounds in his back he decided to do so.

CELEBRATION AT BLOOMINGTON

City Bedecked in Gorgeous Colors for Fire Anniversary.

Bloomington, Ill., June 17.—The entire business district is resplendent with the carnival colors of orange and green in celebration of the anniversary of the city's big fire. Thousands of incandescent light globes are strung around the square and in front of the building and these were lighted at night. The city is filled with fakirs and vendors of all sorts of articles. The animal shows and other attractions on the streets add to the picturesqueness of the carnival scenes and the midway recalls the days of the Chicago world's fair.

THE DRUMMER'S DREAM.

One night a drummer dreamed a dream and, dreaming dreamed he died.

And straightway to the pearly gates his sin-stained spirit hied.

And there before the saints he stood with downcast head and low.

"My record's pretty rank," he said, "I guess I'm bound below."

"I've smoked a lot and drank a lot, confess it all I must."

And flitted too, and then, besides, Great Heavens how I've cursed!"

The good St. Peter looked at him with kindly smiling eyes.

"But shook his head, 'Don't ask, he said, 'a mansion in the skies."

"But let me ask some questions sir: Are you a travelling man?"

The slimmer bowed and in this strain the aged saint began:

"You've got up at 4 a. m., and chased the train a mile

Amid the train crew's jibes and jeers, a sounding all the while,

And then you have found as usual the time card's played its tricks,

You have chased the wrong train out again and your train leaves at 6."

You have taken some gay merchant out and spent a ten or more,

And then he calmly says he has bought his goods the day before,

You've spent your life a bad hotel and eaten still worse meals,

With oleo and waiter girls, all run down at the heels;

You've had your letters sent astray, your trunks have wandered too,

With porters, clerks, and baggage-men you are in a constant stew;

And once a month you see your wife, now tell me, is it true?"

"It is," replied the drummer as he took his hat to go.

"Ah, well," said good St. Peter as he opened the portal wide,

"I'm very glad to meet you, sir, just kindly step in side,

We'll try to make you happy here, we'll do the best we can,

"You've served your time in Hell, for you have been a travelling man."
